The Saudi Food and Drug Authority was established in 2003 as one of the independent and executive authority body corporate in Saudi Arabia. The authority's objective is to protect and ensure the safety and quality of food, drug, as well as medical devices, and cosmetics. The SFDA is empowered by the Council of Ministers to regulate, oversee, and control food, drugs, and medical devices as well as to set mandatory standard specifications for these products, whether they are imported or locally manufactured. The control and/or testing activities can be conducted in the SFDA's or other agencies' laboratories. Moreover, the SFDA is in charge of enhancing public awareness on all matters related to food, drugs, medical devices and all other products and supplies associated in regulations.

As you know, the regulatory affairs related to food, drugs, and medical devices are challenging and dynamic. Thus, collaboration between authorities dealing with regulatory affairs is more important than ever in this era. Hence, we at the SFDA are looking forward to a long-term collaborative relationship to expand our knowledge and experiences by learning from each other, and to open a dialog to discuss and prepare for future challenges.
